

THE BGES SCHOOL

2010-2011

Woh Sunhere Pal

“Education stands on two prongs- knowledge and values. Sadly, the latter is often neglected. Besides having knowledge, a person will only be considered truly educated, when he or she is a person of value. The BGESS has always striven to provide value based education and I implore the ICSE 2011 batch to live up to their values.”

Mangaldas Shanghavi

“Today the Facebook generation has easy access to online information on just about everything . But how far is it authentic? – is the question one must constantly ask. My message to the ICSE 2011 batch is that they should not lose focus and sift the grain from the chaff. Even as we provide to you the best and the latest, remember not to be a slave to technology but let it work for you.”

Pradip J. Sheth

“The famous African proverb : 'It takes a village to raise a child' should remind the ICSE 2011 batch that education is not just about the effort of one or two individuals but the result of a sustained collective effort. The management and staff of the BGESS work as a dedicated team with a common vision – very often behind the scenes - to provide the best for you.”

Dinesh Mehta

“ Franklin Roosevelt once famously stated “We have nothing to fear but fear itself”. As you the students of ICSE 2011 batch prepare to step out of the portals of the BGESS to a world fraught with myriad challenges, do not be afraid to believe in yourself and your ideas. Seize the moment and stamp on it your own unique individual stamp.” ”

Brij Bhusan Singh (Headmaster)

“ To stand out from the crowd , I would like to remind the students of the ICSE 2011 batch that today it is not enough to work hard but to work SMART. The BGESS is a SMART institution because it has fully implemented the SMART class concept and you are the first batch to reap its benefits. So forge ahead by not only harnessing your talents but by being SMART in your thoughts and action.” ”

Mridula Nagar (Deputy Headmistress)
